clay can be found on the surface in groups of varying number usually surround by sand